

To Distribute Huge Sum to Provide Jobs For Million Workers

Public Works Administration Announces Plan to Distribute $115,513,610 as First Step in Program to Create Work for Million Men.

Washington, July 14 (AP).—The public works administration today announced that it intended to distribute $115,513,610 as the first step in a program to create a million new jobs by October 1.

That $115,513,610, Secretary Ickes announced, will be portioned out this way: $64,516,542 for Federal Public Works; $50,000,000 for roads in parks, forests, Indian reservations and public lands; $952,068 for municipal water and sewer plants.

These brought to $753,513,610 the total allocated from the $3,300,000,000 fund made available less than a month ago. Already, President Roosevelt had approved the expenditure of $238,000,000 on naval construction and $400,000,000 on highways. An additional rivers and harbors program awaits the presidential "O. K."

"This ($115,000,000) distribution," Ickes said, "is the first in the program of giving men work so that one million may be employed by October 1. In accordance with President Roosevelt's expressed wish."

A "vast number" of additional projects are yet pending before the Public Works Board which he heads, Ickes said, adding that only the non-controversial had been acted upon first.

The biggest single amount in the items announced today was $38,000,000 for the Great Boulder Canyon power and irrigation project on the Colorado River, besides this, the Bureau of Reclamation got $5,000,000 for the Owyhee irrigation project and $1,000,000 to finish the Vale project, both in Oregon.

The International Boundary Commission were allowed $1,528,000, chiefly for strengthening the Rio Grande and controlling its flow, under a treaty with Mexico. This was contingent upon Mexico's furnishing part of the funds.

In most other cases, the Federal funds were allotted by bureaus and departments. Individual projects in this class cannot be announced until governmental agencies revise their programs in accordance with cuts made by President Roosevelt and the cabinet board in charge of the program.

Mattern Would Finish Trip Alone

Chicago, July 14 (AP).—Despite injuries and the exposure that followed the crash of his plane in Siberia, Jimmie Mattern is determined to complete alone a flight around the world.

In a cable to S. J. Sackett, one of his backers, Mattern today outlined a plan of traveling as a passenger in a Soviet plane from Anadyr, Siberia, where he was stranded, to Nome, Alaska.

At Nome he would obtain a plane taken there by a relief expedition headed by William Alexander of New York, fly back to Anadyr, and at that point turn about and complete the globe trip.

If his purpose were accomplished, he would be the first pilot to complete a solo trip around the world, although using two planes to do it and falling behind the time record of less than nine days set by Post and Gatty.

Italian Fliers at Montreal Today

Montreal, Que., July 14 (AP).—The Italian air armada led by General Italo Balbo appeared over Montreal at 12:25 p. m., eastern standard time, today, having completed their 500-mile flight from Quebec, N. B.

The Italian seaplanes approached from the east and swung around the city in a wide circle preparatory to alighting in the harbor.

General Balbo and his aviators left Quebec this morning at 8:51 o'clock and thus required three hours and 24 minutes to cover the 500-mile journey.

The armada flew over the state of Maine during its trip today.

Committee Decides To Adjourn Economic Conference July 27

London, July 14 (AP).—The steering committee of the world economic conference decided today to recess the worldwide parley on July 27.

All committees were notified to have their complete reports ready by next Friday.

The full bureau meeting will be conducted the following Tuesday and the final plenary session will be held the 27th.

It is understood that great care will be taken to avoid a note of finality at the plenary session. There will be a clear indication that the conference is expected to resume at a future date. This attitude would permit continuation of the tariff truce which was for the duration of the parley and which many nations desire not to terminate.

The plenary session will have to confirm the steering committee's decision to close out the deliberation but leaders consider this a mere formality.

Senator James Couzens of Michigan was the center of interest today in a private meeting of the subcommittee which is considering the question of commercial indebtedness.

It was understood that the senator expressed disgust at the lack of progress and declared that the subcommittee might as well adjourn.

James M. Cox of Ohio then called his colleague aside for a few minutes of confidential talk, after which Mr. Couzens withdrew his remark. Henry L. Stimson, former secretary of state, visited conference headquarters today and held a long conversation with his successor at Washington, Cordell Hull. This was the first time Mr. Stimson had visited the delegation's office.

Roosevelt Ponders Plan to Fix Wages In All Industries

Advisors Suggest President Fix Minimum Wage in Every Industry—Will Discuss Idea With Cabinet at Meeting Today.

Washington, July 14 (AP).—President Roosevelt seriously pondered today a proposal by some advisers that he act to fix minimum rates of pay and maximum hours of work in all industries.

He was said to be pleased at what administrators of the recovery act interpreted as industry's increasing willingness to submit its own voluntary agreements to increase purchasing power. But in some quarters it was reported the four new "codes of fair competition" submitted yesterday were not enough.

So today the president planned to talk things over with his cabinet and Hugh S. Johnson, industrial administrator, before deciding what action might be thought necessary.

Administration leaders declined to detail prematurely the plan some had in mind, but Johnson has been framing a blanket order. Likewise, he yesterday dispatched telegrams to various industries asking them when they expected to present their agreements.

Shortly after Johnson received two of the new voluntary agreements to control competition, raise wages and reduce working hours, he set them for public hearing on July 20. These were submitted by the American Petroleum Industry and the Women's Cloak and Suit Division of the Apparel Industry. The Lumber Trade's code also is to be heard on that day.

He delayed for a time setting hearings on the codes presented by the Associated General Contractors and Bituminous Coal Operators from 14 states.

1 Bank Robber Dead And Another Hurt

Parsons, Kans., July 14 (AP).—A bank robber, identified by officers as Kenneth Conn, one of eleven convicts who escaped from the Kansas penitentiary Memorial Day, was shot to death today in an attempted hold-up of the Labette County State Bank at Altamont.

A companion, seriously wounded in the face, was identified as Alva Payton, another of the Lansing prisoners who escaped by kidnapping the warden, Kirk Prather.

The two men were shot down by Isaac McCarty, bank cashier, from an ambush he had prepared on top of the bank vault for use in case of robbery.

McCarty's father, A. H. McCarty, assistant cashier, his wife, a bank bookkeeper, W. H. Drumheller, president of the bank, and A. E. Sachs, a mail carrier, were present when the men entered and drew revolvers.

Six of the eleven convicts who participated in the Memorial Day prison break are now accounted for, but the leaders, Harvey Bailey and Wilbur Underhill, are still at liberty.

Bailey and Underhill are among those sought in connection with the slaying of four officers and convict Frank Nash at the Union Station plaza in Kansas City June 17.

Senator Webb is chairman of the New York State Aviation Commission. He said he expected to reach Chicago at 4 p. m. if the weather is favorable.

"I have the governor's invitation in my pocket," he said.

"Execute Kidnapers" Is Historian's Plea

By CHARLES E. HONCE

New York, July 14 (AP).—It will be a very fortunate and comfortable day for the people of this country when some kidnaper sits down in the electric chair, in the opinion of Edmund Pearson, America's foremost writer on real life crimes.

"The crime of kidnapping is one which cannot be explained by people who try to account for all crime on the ground that it is a matter of sudden passion or impulse," said Pearson.

"It is a piece of carefully thought out and calculated devilishness. The kidnaper plans to extort money by torturing people. The men who plan kidnappings ought never to be allowed outside of prison again."

Pearson believes swift and sure punishment, particularly of murderers, offers a solution of the crime problem, citing the example of England and Canada. Ten years of murder trials study also has convinced the historian of the Lizzie Borden murder case and other sensational American crimes that 80 or 90 per cent of persons formally accused of murder are guilty.

"The men who make up the plots of detective stories always go on the idea that the fellow who is accused is never guilty. My business has been to study the trials of real murderers. It resulted in the discovery that the people who are seriously and formally accused of murder are—in at least 80 or 90 per cent of the cases—actually the guilty ones."

"This has made me lose the romantic and sentimental view of murderers."

However, Pearson does not believe that all convictions are proper or that all verdicts of "not guilty" are mistakes.

Hollywood Ready To Get Kidnapers

Hollywood, July 14 (AP).—Lest filmdom's millions attract a buzzard's swarm of kidnapers, Hollywood is taking its ounce of prevention.

Fear of kidnapping, always present among the colony's 20,000 actors and actresses, has been heightened by recent abductions in the east and midwest.

Major studios with their private police are discussing formation of a "Scotland Yard" to protect their film stars and directors, and Los Angeles county and city officials are taking precautionary steps.

Sheriff Eugene Biscailuz announced the creation of a special group of secret investigators to handle kidnapping cases, and warned wealthy families to be on their guard.

R. E. Steckel, chief of police, ordered his men to keep a finger on bootleggers who have been forced out of business by repeal of liquor laws, and has issued orders to shoot to kill in combating kidnapers.

Hollywood's concern is not one of idle apprehension.

Two men convicted several years ago of contriving a plot to abduct one of the most famous of its film celebrities, Mary Pickford, are serving sentences of from 10 to 50 years.

Senator Desmond, sponsor of the bill in the senate, outlined the provisions of the bill and stressed the importance of the job which the members have in mind. He called attention to the fact that New York city should not be the distributing center for the eight counties in the area. This distribution should be taken care of within the area.

Assemblyman Allen of Dutchess county who sponsored the bill in the lower house spoke briefly.

The meeting was opened by Assistant Commissioner of the Department of Agriculture and Markets C. J. Henry who called the meeting to order and presided at the session.

A. B. Buchholz, manager of the Columbia County Farm Bureau, represented the Central Farm Bureau office.

Fred DuBois of New Paltz, a member of the State Council of Agriculture and Markets, was present and stressed the importance of the board and spoke briefly on what market facilities should be provided for this zone. Following the opening remarks the board lunched at 12:30 o'clock and this afternoon the organization will take place with the election of a president, vice-president, secretary and treasurer.

H. C. Hopper of State College was present and was scheduled to make a report to the board on a recent survey which has just been completed on production in this area and on general market conditions as shown by this survey.

2 Ransom Notes Are Received by Family of Banker Held Captive

Agents of August Luer, Aged Banker Held Captive, Will Recognize No Notes Unless They Are in Handwriting of Victim.

Albany, Ill., July 14 (AP).—Two notes demanding ransom for August Luer, 77-year-old Alton banker, have been received by Luer's family. It was announced here today. Agents for the family said neither of the notes bore Luer's hand writing.

The family's agents, O. S. Catt and Lawrence Keller, Jr., said they would insist that any note from the kidnappers bear a few lines of Luer's handwriting, and be signed by him, before they would recognize the note as genuine.

"This is the only condition on which we will further negotiate with his captors," the agents said, "and until we have proper proof that he is being held by one of the persons from whom we have received communications, none of the instructions contained in the demand note will be carried out."

The agents refused to amplify their statement, and would not say how the notes were received or give any description of them.

O'Connell Captors Ask and Get New List of Go-Betweens

Three New York City Papers Publish List of Intermediaries as Instructed by Kidnapers of John O'Connell, Nephew of Upstate Democratic Leaders—Third List Offered by Family—Note Signed by Kidnaped Youth—Today's Letter Was Fourth Received.

Albany, N. Y., July 14 (AP).—Daniel P. O'Connell, uncle of the kidnaped John J. Jr., received a letter from the kidnappers today ordering the family to submit a new list of intermediaries to be published in three New York papers, the Sun, Journal and World-Telegram.

The list of go-betweens, the third offered by the family, has been sent to the New York papers.

The letter received today was signed by the kidnaped youth. The family established the authenticity of the signature.

The first letter from the abductors, demanding $250,000, received last Saturday bore young John's signature. Two other letters from the kidnappers had not carried his name.

Today's letter, the fourth the family has received, was taken from the private mail box of Dan this morning. It was not made public. It was said, however, that no reference was made to the boy's condition, nor was there any reference to the ransom.

O'Connell, scion of the nationally famous political family, was kidnaped a week ago. Since then, the family, acting on instructions from the kidnappers, has submitted two other lists to go betweens. Each list carried 11 names, chiefly of men prominent in Albany sporting circles. The first list was in the Knickerbocker Press last Sunday morning. It was a simple code, with numerals designating letters, for a, 2 for b, etc. The second list, in the same code, was carried in the Albany Times-Union of last Monday afternoon.

Today's list, it was said, also was in the same code. It did not, however, carry the caption affixed to the other notes. That caption was "Sedgewick." The ad sent to the New York papers today bore as caption, a telephone exchange of New York city. What that exchange was could not be learned.

The list of names published today in New York city newspapers was made up of some persons well known in and around Albany.

The New York Journal list named Sylvester Hoss, companion of the slain Legs Diamond and said by police to have been the last person with Diamond before the gangster was shot to death here in January, 1932; Fred Roma, operator of a beer garden, and Terry Riley, a former stage hand and now seriously ill in an Albany hospital. The list was signed by Tommy Tyndall, a sporting character.

Charles Wachter, a Troy brewer, Tony (Tough Tony) Condi, former driver of a beer truck, and Manny Stewell, a beer distributor here, were named in the New York World Telegram list which was signed by Willie Martin, waiter and small-time gambler.

The New York Sun list contains the names of Jim O'Connor, operator of one of Albany's most widely patronized beer gardens, Dave Sherman and Joe Curro, former beer truck driver. Al Friedman, who conducts an agency here for a Troy brewery, signed the list.

Champion Wrestler Jealous of Wife

Los Angeles, July 14 (AP).—A former Boston society girl who aroused the jealousy of Gus Sonnenberg by appearing in public with Gary Cooper, the movie star, told a newspaper reporter today she is the wife of the heavyweight wrestler.

Judith Allen, 21-year-old featured player (Marie Elliot in real life) disclosed she had been masquerading under the name of Allen and that Mari Colman in an effort to keep a secret of the marriage by agreement with Sonnenberg.

Sonnenberg, himself at one time billed as world's heavyweight champion wrestler, gave away the identity of his wife as he lay in St. Vincent's hospital recovering from the effects of a bout with Jim Browning Wednesday night.

He told friends he was tired of having his wife's name linked with Cooper's in a Hollywood movie gossip column. Further, he said, he received no answer when he sent a dozen roses to Miss Allen's apartment.

Miss Allen was asked about the truth of the report as she sat on a set where a picture is being made at a movie studio.

"I don't want to hurt Gus," she replied, "but I do not love him, and all I can do, I suppose, is to obtain a divorce."

Three Killed Cop And Stole $6,720

Philadelphia, July 14 (AP).—Three robbers shot to death a policeman and stole a $6,720 payroll he was guarding today in the factory office of the Allied KM Co., near Fifth and Huntingdon streets.

The policeman, Charles Stockburger, 50, went down under a shower of bullets as the gunmen rushed in. He had no time to draw his pistol.

The robbers presumably trailed an automobile carrying Stockburger and two employees of the company from a bank where they obtained the money. They went to the office on the second floor and the policeman remained on guard while the employees entered an inner office to place the money in envelopes for the 250 workers at the factory.

A few minutes later the robbers burst into the room and fired. While one man stood guard, the other two rushed into the inner office, picked up the money and fled downstairs. The three disappeared in an automobile.

Stockburger had been a policeman 22 years.

Old Rugs and Quilts To Be Displayed July 19

Hurley, July 14.—The Ladies Aid Society of the Hurley Reformed Church will hold an exhibit and sale of quilts and rugs at the Beauty Farm on the Hurley Road, on the afternoon of July 19, beginning at three o'clock.

The ladies have searched their attics and delved into trunks, and the collection of old and rare quilts has been assembled. One or two have histories that can be traced back for 200 years.

Hurley is an old village. Ancestors of the present inhabitants have lived there for hundreds of years. Family relics have been passed down from generation to generation. For this reason the exhibit promises to be a very interesting one.

The Beauty residence is one of the oldest of the old stone houses in this Dutch section of the country. It was built in 1749 by Tjerick Claussen De Witt, one of the earliest Dutch settlers. The ready cordiality of the Beauty family will be extended to everyone on Wednesday, July 19.

Besides the exhibition of old quilts, rugs and quilts made in recent years will be shown and placed on sale.

Tea will be served and a silver collection will be taken for the benefit of the church.

London's "Gloomy Dean" To Retire After One More Year At St. Paul's

London (AP)—Back in Oxford where he was a college tutor 44 years ago, England's famous "gloomy dean" will seek rest and tranquility next year.

He is The Very Rev. W. R. Inge, dean of St. Paul's cathedral, whose salty remarks—both tongue and pen—have given him a world reputation for pessimism.

Friends Call Him "Bright"

Just turned 73, he plans to continue at his post "at least another 12 months" and then turn his back on the somber deanery that has remained but little changed since Christopher Wren rebuilt it after London's great fire. It has been Dean Inge's home for 22 years.

Though his reputation is one of solemnity, those who know him intimately describe him as one of the witliest and brightest of companions.

And all of his speeches are not "gloomy." Some time ago he peered more than 1,000 years into the future. Among the things he saw were no more wars, no more tariff walls, and no more infectious diseases—except the common cold.

Prays For World Peace

But he has been pessimistic, too. He said recently: "I don't want to be other than hopeful about our future, but I certainly think that as a great power England culminated in the nineteenth century."

With the world economic conference in session in London, he said: "We offer our prayers for this conference, for Christianity and civilization are on trial."

Speaking before a health conference he drew a laugh from the doctors by saying "The clergy as a class are timid, and afraid to speak out."

When the chuckles had subsided he added: "So are you doctors," and: "In West Africa a good 'bedside manner' consists in dancing in the patient's hut, howling, and beating a tom-tom. In civilized countries the method is quieter, but the intention is the same."

When the chuckles had subsided he added: "So are you doctors," and: "In West Africa a good 'bedside manner' consists in dancing in the patient's hut, howling, and beating a tom-tom. In civilized countries the method is quieter, but the intention is the same."

BLACK AND WHITE COAT FOR AUTUMNJust a Bit Early, Perhaps, but Interesting.

All wound up and some place to go calls for something particularly smart in the matter of wearing apparel. Worth takes care of the situation in a number of ways. One, for instance, is with a black and white plaid coat, designed for early autumn which has built our shoulders and fastens with a big black velvet bow. It is straight in line with lots of human interest centered in the sleeves and collar.

To be wound up and headed for the beach it wouldn't be a bad notion to have that very swaggy black linen frock from Worth that has large bell-shaped sleeves, a white collar with a big bunch of black and white flowers at the point of the front décolletage. A wide black and white belt brings the outfit up a notch in smartness and things like shoe, purse and hat have the option of being black or white or both.

COSTUME JEWELRY
By CHERRY NICHOLAS

Taking a "forward look" as to fashion trends the most significant message being flashed across the horizon as to the future is—costume jewelry! This revival of an interest in jewelry which shall play a part in smart ensembles is really not a surprise. It is inevitable that it should be so. Now that the style world finds itself in the midst of an era of elegance in dress, the call for necklaces, bracelets, earrings, brooches, novel clips, buckles and such follows as naturally as does the night day.

Lack of space keeps us from attempting to enumerate all the intriguing items which are included in the pageantry of jewelry which will take place during the months to follow.

Just now the fad is on for white jewelry. Which is why the white organdie frocked debutante posed at the top of this sketch selected a dainty necklace composed of satiny white oblong beads, the seven or eight strands of which festoon from an arrangement of dull ornaments and small silver beads.

With her pale mousseline frock the young woman seated below in the picture is wearing a necklace and bracelet formed of oblong opaque beads strung between metal bars which match the twisted-in-a-figure-eight metal ornament. The design is carried out, half white, half blue.

STYLE NOTES

Rick-rack braid trims sheer neckwear.

Black satin suits are smart for town wear.

Smart shops feature corduroy sports coats.

Black linen is good style for every hour in the day.

Fashion highlights sheer costumes for both day and evening wear.

Some of the most fetching bathing suits are made of unbleached muslin.

Plaid or striped organdies and chiffons are outstanding among fabrics for summertime frocks.

Traveling Modes Simple
for Summer Vacationist

There was a time when the average traveler looked like she was starting out for market drill—what with umbrella, carpet-bag, overshoes and box lunch, not to mention smelling salts for train sickness.

Now, one's walking shoes can "take it," which dispenses with the rubbers, and the topcoat is crumpled, which throws a wrench into the umbrella's ubiquity.

The sophisticated traveler wears glove-silk underwear instead of carrying a five-pound fatiron, and she rings for a cooling drink rather than being silly-enough to monkey with smelling salts, and lastly she prefers sparring with a couple of dresses and dozens of accessories, to 14 dresses and a litter of trunks.

Black Accessories

All-black accessories with bright hued frocks are the latest fashion. Summer frocks of geranium red, forget-me-not blue and cloud gray are worn with dead black hats, gloves and bags, while dark frocks appear with all white accents.

Tears are Antiseptic

Tears are a natural antiseptic; if they were not, the human race would be in for many more troubles. When a woman has "a good cry," it not only relieves her pent-up feelings but it also washes her eyes, and she sees things more clearly.

MUNICIPAL DEBTS TRIPLED SINCE WAR

C. C. C.'s on Western Front Send Word Home

Bozeman, Wyoming, July 9, 1933.

Dear Mother:

We, the boys of the C. C. C., wish to thank you very much for putting the last write up in your paper. We would like to know if you would be kind enough to put another one in for us. If so, please print the following:

Dear Friends and Relatives:

Through the courtesy of the Kingston Daily Freeman we are able to let you know what is going on out here in the west. All is quiet on the western front. Most of the boys are all gone on hikes today.

and it is rather quiet around here. Under the circumstances I am able to think a little better than usual. You know this 10,000 foot altitude sort of annoys my brain. Nevertheless I am able to think of something to say. We all had a pretty good time on the 4th of July. We were down to the Rodao at Evanston. Railroad Volynski, alias Rough House Nelson, scored a victory at the show. He won over Kid Larry of Newburgh in a wrestling match. After five minutes and thirty seconds of hard wrestling Railroad managed to throw his opponent out of the ring for the count of six and was declared the winner. Volynski expects another match in Salt Lake City soon. Railroad is very busy right now cooking our chicken dinner with the help of our good friend, Ernie Soules. We are having good eats now that we are not on field ration any more. We have meat, fresh vegetables, apples, coffee, cake, pie and fruit. Even the major couldn't wish for any better. I suppose Kingston thinks it is having a shortage of rats. Well, maybe it is but we are having a shortage of rats here. It rained here three days in a row. It wasn't for the show on the mountain tops I don't think we would have much water here. But asking how there is snow on the mountain the rear round we don't have to worry.

Cue Ball Kanting, Speck DeCree and Footie Larkin found a piece of shiny iron ore the other day and they thought it was gold or silver. A bunch of the fellows tore down about half the mountain looking for more but with no results. They did more in one hour looking for gold than they did since we have been here. It's too bad it couldn't have been found on the road they are building. If it was found there the road would be finished by now. I guess they thought they were going to get rich quick but they got a big surprise. We are getting along nicely with our work. We are not doing much forest work run. It is mostly of building our mess hall and showers and building things ready for next year. Some of the fellows get kind of disgusted sometimes, but the soothing words of Captain Brine and Lieutenant McNally make things O. K. again. Well, I guess I will go out and chase my way into the mess line for my chicken and I will finish when I get back.

Well folks, now that I had my chicken and beans I can work better so here goes. I am sorry you couldn't have been here to have dinner with me because it sure was good.

I hope the fellows back home are getting lots of work on the rail. As for myself I am getting all the work I want. You know it makes a fellow feel good to work once in a while even though he is getting a dollar a day.

We have a canteen here where we can buy most anything we want, such as cigarettes, candy, stamps, and etc. "Oh Boy" that's where my money goes. We get what we want on tick and when you once get started it's hard to stop. Consequently when pay day comes around we haven't got much coming. They issue us paper and envelopes to do our writing. That's not so bad but they should give us free postage service. Ray Studd, formerly of Houghaling's Night Hawks, and a fellow by the name of Miller entertain the boys at night as they sit around the fire. They are pretty good with their corner duets and the fellows join in with their melodious voices. There was a few fellows in our company who couldn't take it as the saying goes. Perhaps it's just as well in one case as the fellow wasn't wanted any too much anyway. Personally I don't think it was fair to some of the fellows who wanted to come and couldn't. In the first place no one should enlist in this thing who doesn't want to stick it out. This is a good organization for a fellow who can take it, but it's no place for a drugstore cowboy or a carb setter.

The baseball team of the 231st Co. will play the team of the 350th Co. now stationed at Smith's Forks on Wednesday, July 12, 1933. The game will take place in our own camp. The following Sunday a return game will be played at the Smith's Forks Camp. We have a very good team if I do say it myself. We call our team the "Boomerangs Nine". Maybe that answers for them being so good.

A crowd of our boys went on hunting and fishing trips today. There is plenty of trout streams out here and plenty of trout to take out of them, providing you have the necessary tackle.

Well folks I can't think of anything more to say now so I will have to stop. With the best of wishes to all.

Sincerely yours,
BURTON L. BEESMER, 231st Co., C. C. C.

Chandler and His Supporters

This is "Chick" Chandler, Kingston's own, or the home town boy who made good in the movies, supported by a bevy of striking chorines who assist him in putting over his part in "Melody Cruise." R. K. O. feature which is to be run at the Broadway Theatre for three days, starting Saturday.

"Melody Cruise" presented Chandler, the son of Dr. George F. Chandler, formerly of Kingston, with his first major movie role. His first taste came in "The Great Magoo." Prior to taking up film work, "Chick" was in vaudeville. He appeared in per-several times at the Broadway, drawing large audiences on each occasion. For that reason alone, "Melody Cruise" is expected to do a big business here.

Articles in moving picture magazines and newspapers have been mentioning Chandler a lot of late. One cinema writer recently described him as headed for the top, mentioning his present salary as $750 a week. This was glad news to his old schoolmates and friends in Kingston who join in wishing him success.

Movie stars playing with Chandler in "Melody Cruise" are Charlie Ruggles, Phil Harris, Greta Nissen, Helen Mack and Marjorie Gateson.

HOLLYWOOD SIGHTS-SOUNDS

By ROBBIN COONS
HOLLYWOOD—"Like father, like son"—and the second generation of filmland is virtually without exception, interested in screen careers. Less famous than Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., most noted among Hollywood actors' sons, seven boys whose fathers were or are well known to movie fans are looking to pictures either as a career or as a means to finance some other career they prefer.

A 'Junior' Convention

All seven worked together in a film of youth, "This Day and Age," under the director, Cecil B. DeMille. DeMille set out to employ as many of Hollywood's "second generation" as possible, and even sent wives to Carl Laemmle, Jr., who is production boss at Universal, and to Jesse Lasky, Jr., who works under his father at Fox. Junior Laemmle ignored DeMille's "tag," but young Lasky almost took him up on it.

The seven who worked are Frank Tinner, Jr., Fred Kohler, Jr., son of the movie heavy, Ned Hart, Jr., son of the old-time western star, William Wallace Reed, Jr., son of the late movie idol, Bryant Washburn, Jr., whose father, once a star, is still working in films; Erich von Stroheim, Jr., son of the director and actor; and Carlyle Blackwell, Jr.

Ambition Beckons

They vary somewhat in their preferences. Young Tinner, 15, wants to be a comedian. Ned Hart wants a screen career, but would like to own a ranch in New Mexico too. He is 20. Young Kohler, 21, already an actor of some experience, wants to direct and write as well.

Washburn wants to be an actor and a cattle rancher—in the Argentine. At 18, still in high school, he has had many screen roles. Von Stroheim prefers directing, but wants to be an actor, too. He is 16. Blackwell, at 20, has worked around pictures since he was 14—and once was in the sound department. He is studying commercial art, and wants to be an actor. "A successful actor," he insists.

Young Bill Reid, 16, honestly doesn't care much for acting, as such. As a means to earn money with which to study aeronautical engineering, however, he thinks it's great.

Talks to parents

Discipline Gone Wrong

By ALICE JUDSON PEARLE
Lucy, dawdling over her milk, is told that if she does not drink it immediately she will be put to bed without her dessert. That is her mother's way of persuading her.

"All right," says she, "then I'll go to bed," and getting down from her chair, marches upstairs to her room and to bed, leaving mother to wonder what was wrong with her discipline.

Lucy was given a choice, and she took it. She went to bed without her milk and without dessert, but she took with her an air of defiance and victory. Where, mother wondered, had she made her mistake?

More pertinently, one might ask where she made her mistakes? For there were several and each is important.

In the first place, it is unwise to attempt to force a child to eat. In the second, it is wrong to make deprivation of dessert a punishment, for dessert is simply part of a well balanced meal, and should be regarded neither as a reward nor as a punishment, but as food that is essential to nourishment of the body and maintenance of good health.

Going to bed is something else that should never be regarded as punishment, since a child is expected to go to bed cheerfully every night of his life.

The use of any threat is a sign that the adult, baffled, feels the situation as a clash of wills in which he is not sure that he will win.

A modern view holds that a child does as he should either because it is part of his accepted routine, because the right action appeals to him for a good and sufficient reason, or because he has faith in the person who tells him what to do and wants to keep his approval by complying.

Thus considered, drinking or refusing to drink a glass of milk is a question not of discipline but of appetite.

Sundown Stories

The County Fair

By MARY GRAHAM BONNER
"I heard the news," Top Notch began, "down at the farm where I visit every so often. It seems that there is to be a county fair and exhibition in the village fair grounds just beyond the farm. They are starting tomorrow and the fun will last for a whole week."

"Pigs and cows and sheep and hens and roosters and pigeons are going to be exhibited and the best will win blue ribbons. Then there is to be a big building filled with flowers and vegetables and another with jellies and jams and home-made pies."

"Oh, my," said Jelly Bear, and he and Honey Bear began to smack their lips at the very thought of so much sweet food.

"Greedy pair," muttered Top Notch in his Rooterish way. "Next week there will be more excitements—a ferris wheel, a merry-go-round, a fortune teller, trapeze performers—oh, everything! It would be such fun for all of us!"

"We must certainly all go," said Willy Nilly. "We've got some money left over from what was given to us when the train was flagged and saved from a wreck. We'll divide that, and get started. Oh, it will be nice to have a lot of fun and no trouble at all."

"Of course I should attend to my chores, but something like this happens only once in a very great while."

Each animal was given a little bag of money to carry over wing or around neck, and then they were ready.

"We're all going to have some fun," crowed and cavied and growled and barked and quacked all the animals.

Today

Kingston: "Gold Diggers of 1933."

Another great revue even better and more lavish than "42nd St." which was one of the greatest musical pictures of all time. Many of the same cast are in this picture, including Ruby Keeler who was such a tremendous success in the other production, Ginger Rogers, Dick Powell and hundreds of others. The musical numbers are excellent, the comedy parts are very well done. Directed by Mervin LeRoy, the same man who directed "42nd Street", this picture is one to be seen.

Orpheum: "No Other Woman" and "Deadwood Pass." Eric Linden, Charles Bickford, Irene Dunne and Gwili Andre are featured players in the first offering, a story of domestic unrest that turns out all for the best in the final scenes.

"Deadwood Pass" is pure melodrama, with Tom Tyler an effective and lively hero.

Broadway: "Luxury Liner." Along the manner of "Grand Hotel," this entertaining story of a doctor who follows his eloping wife aboard a gigantic ocean liner, to see what can be done about it, is a screen fare that offers unlimited possibilities for dramatic interest. Excitement, trouble and comedy are all blended together, but the story becomes too involved in a maze of irrelevant points before it is over. George Brent, Vivienne Osborne, Zita Johann, Frank Morgan, Alice White, C. Aubrey Smith and Verree Teasdale are members of the talented cast.

Tomorrow.

Kingston: "Bed of Roses." Constance Bennett, the ultimate of motion picture sophistication, is the star of this off revised tale of a girl who treeds the primrose path to luxury, but the picture is stolen wholly and completely by a newcomer to the talkies, Pert Kelton by name. She runs away with the picture the moment she comes before the camera, and her inspired and realistic acting will bear careful watching. The plot concerns a girl who decides to find happiness the easiest way after leaving reform school, and she makes a success of it until real love steps into the picture in the person of young Joel McCrea. This changes everything as well it might, and the two go into the well known clinch at the ends of the picture to make a happy ending. Adult entertainment. One of the bright spots of the program is a Mickey Mouse cartoon that lives up to the standard of past Walt Disney comedies. Mr. Mickey Mouse should be congratulated on his dramatic ability, for he has yet to give his audience a poor picture.

Orpheum: Same.

Broadway: "Melody Cruise." Weird camera angles, tricky and catchy musical numbers, originality and humor plus any number of pretty girls are the outstanding features of this musical and dancing revue that has a bit of a plot but not enough to spoil anything. It's all about Charles Ruggles, who is having trouble with the wife, and who accidentally sails to Europe with a couple of girls in his stateroom. From the Kingston viewpoint, probably the most interesting thing about the film is the fact that Chick Chandler, a Kingston boy, makes good in a featured role in this talkie. Chandler helps handle the comedy relief, and does a good job of it. Others in a large cast include Phil Harris, Greta Nissen, Helen Mack, June Brewster and Shirley Chambers. A lavish musical production that is worth seeing.

Roast Beef and Browned Potatoes
5 pound rib 1/2 teaspoon paprika
2 tablespoons 1/2 cup water flour 6 peeled potatoes
1 teaspoon salt 10

Place roast in roasting pan. Sprinkle with 1/2 the salt, the paprika and flour. Bake 20 minutes in hot oven in uncovered pan. Add water, cover with lid and bake 50 minutes. Add potatoes, sprinkle them with remaining salt and roast 45 minutes. If "well done" beef is desired roast 20 minutes more. Turn potatoes several times to allow even browning.

After removing roast and potatoes from pan, make gravy by adding 3 tablespoons of flour mixed with 1/2 cup of water to meat stock, boil 2 minutes. If gravy is too thick add more water to pan during cooking of gravy.

Fruit Sherbet

1 cup sugar 1 cup grape-juice
1 cup orange juice
1/2 cup lemon juice 1 1/2 cups milk
Mix sugar and fruit juices, slowly add milk, pour into tray in mechanical refrigerator. Remove pan twice during first hour and beat well each time. This beating aids in preventing the mixture from crystallizing.

The sherbet may be frozen by the regular freezer method.

Sponge Cake

6 egg yolks 6 egg whites
1 cup sugar beaten
1 cup pastry flour 1/2 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon cream of tartar 1 teaspoon lemon extract Beat yolks, lightly fold in rest of ingredients. Pour into ungreased pan, bake one hour in slow oven.

Seersucker and Pique Take a Header

The sailor illustrated at left is of white seersucker, all-over stitched, and banded with red and blue linen. The wide brimmed model with slight scoop, matched by the scarf, is of a red and white striped pique which is faced with plain white pique. A red and navy belting band and cord tie trim it.

Mannish Hats Again in the Ring

The mannish in millinery is by no means finished. Since the advent of the fedora crown, Paris has developed this idea in many different ways. There has been no end of mannish blacks in Panamas and other exotic straws, and the recent revival of interest in felt hats also reflects this influence strongly.

Advance hints from Paris indicate that French creators are looking for favor upon felts for fall. The new flannel felts which are cited in Paris dispatches, the patterned felts, and the "velvet" felts with rich, deep pile, offer suggestions which give fresh style character to the mannish sports or town hat to accompany casual costumes of the early fall.

Tweed for the Traveler Is "Just the Ticket"

New York—Tweed may not seem a timely July subject, yet what else can one choose for traveling that will be so nearly worth its weight in gold? There is always a need for some sort of topcoat. It is fine, of course, to be affluent enough to have light colored, warmish ones, still most of us are grateful to be able to own one good-looking coat, and have a natural yen to have it a tweed one. The tweed type anyway.

Travel coats are still of the swaggy type, unbelted and with shoulders that are inclined to be tricky, square or oblong, for instance. Instead of the usual around the arm kind.

If you are planning a cruise, or are motoring to Chicago for the Fair or doing any of the things that are being done, the chances are that you will thank your stars for such an ensemble as is shown. Of course you can't wear it with comfort when the sun is sizzling hot, but it is never very sensible to get far from home without something of this sort in one's bag, part of it, at least, for its rather swanky to carry your topcoat on your arm.

It seems that black and white tweeds are being favored, which is easy enough to understand, since women have gone so wholeheartedly in for white accessories and for white over, or on, black.

Among such details worth mentioning were the number of white handbags carried with white costumes or with dark ones trimmed with white. A few bags that are first and round in shape are carried by smart women. These round pancake bags have been shown in the shops for some time. Black lacquered belts on black and white printed dresses were other points of general interest.

A CHECK ON TWEEDS

DID YOU KNOW THAT

Other smart darts in lines that are being seen in town as well as at resorts where smart people gather are grapejuice, raspberry and currant, all of them in the red variety. The liking for red has been very strong right through the season.

A black and white checked tweed makes a suit with matching topcoat worn at Tuxedo. This endorsement of checked tweeds for country wear has been recurrent this season at fashionable outdoor events, and has manifested itself in town fashions as well.

Association to Hold Annual Reunion in Schenectady on July 29—Genealogist to Report Progress in Collecting Family Records.

Continuing the work begun in Claverack in August, 1929, at the first annual reunion, the Shufelt Family Association will hold their meeting in Central Park, Schenectady, on Saturday, July 29. The time of the event is set at noon and after a basket lunch the annual business meeting will be called under the direction of Mrs. A. E. Clapper of Albany, president of the association. Members are anticipating a meeting of particular interest this year as the family genealogist, Henry B. Shufelt of Montreal, will report the achievements of the past four years in the work of collecting the records and writing the history of the family. This work has progressed with greater rapidity than was anticipated at the beginning in view of the wide geographical distribution of the branches of the family.

Other reunions have been held at Kingston and Albany in 1930 and 1931, respectively. Regrettably circumstances prevented a meeting at the regular time last year. One of the purposes of the meetings is that of stimulating interest in the early history of the family, of which the first American record dates back to the great Palatine migration during the period of Louis XIV after his war against the Rhenish Palatinate in the seventeenth century. Descendants of this line have settled in virtually every state in the union and have made contributions to the building of our country in many occupations and professions. It is hoped that all of the major achievements in war and peace may be reported to the genealogist in order that the record may not have the all too common fault of genealogies, that of incompleteness. The staff of officers and the publicity committee of the association are working to that end. Pictures, anecdotes, family lore and traditions are the indispensable elements of interest that make a family record alive and meaningful.

The members of the publicity committee are as follows:

Mrs. Stanton Shufelt, Westerlo, New York.

Harvey Shufelt, Middleburgh, New York.

Henry B. Shufelt, Montreal, Canada.

Mrs. Truman Howard, Pittsfield, Mass.

Miss Carrie E. Spaid, Martindale, New York.

Mrs. George W. Shultis, Kingston, New York.

Harvey Shufelt, Lyons, New York.

Mrs. Beulah Van Hoesen, Niverville, New York.

Adam Van Vranken, Rexford, New York.

Sunday Clothes

The old-fashioned Sunday was, in short, the only institution that has ever made the entire American people, from top to bottom, realize the obligations and feel the benefits of dressing deliberately and appropriately for a given event. Those Sunday clothes, says a writer in the Atlantic Monthly Magazine, did for their wearers exactly what a uniform does for a soldier. They induced and maintained a complete mental attitude.

Recovery Act Was Topic Told Kiwanis

Emphasizing that the National Industrial Recovery Act of the Roosevelt Administration was the burning issue of the day, and that whether it would work or not, the only way back to prosperity and the return to employment of some 12,000,000 men is the consumption of more goods, Harry C. McKenzie of Walton, addressed members of the Kiwanis Club at the Governor Clinton Hotel Thursday noon on the theory of the act and his own personal views on the matter.

Chester A. Baltz announced that plans were completed for the outing and ladies night of Kiwanis at the Y. M. C. A. camp at Glenrie on Tuesday, July 18. Arrangements have been made to serve dinner to members desiring the same, and they have been requested to notify Mr. Baltz so that plenty of food may be on hand for the occasion.

William Byrne, the club representative at the recent international convention at Los Angeles, Calif., was present and was welcomed back from his trip.

The following guests were introduced: C. F. Cutting of San Diego, Calif.; A. H. Johnson of East Orange, N. J.; N. Janssen Fowler of Kingston; J. H. Sanborn of New York city; L. Bogert of Teaneck, N. J.; J. J. Gross of Kingston, and D. S. Hoover of Washington, D. C.

President Howard St. John introduced the speaker of the day.

The speaker explained that the National Industrial Recovery Act was designed to raise wages, provide employment and end the depression, and he stated that it worked on the theory that employers should be forced to pay higher wages. Mr. McKenzie explained that no provision was made for the employer, how he was to finance the raise in wages, where he was to get his funds or how he was to get his money back or make a profit.

It was the speaker's contention that such a plan was bound to end in failure, because although it might raise wages and provide a temporary prosperity, that such a plan could not stand up for any length of time and was bound to collapse. He believed that the only way to regain lasting prosperity was to make more work and have more goods consumed. His example of such a plan was Henry Ford, who produced an automobile within the reach of almost every one, and who consequently was able to produce large numbers of cars, and provide work for a large number of men.

Mr. McKenzie believed that business was in no shape to carry the burden that would be fixed upon it by the recovery act, and that there can be no return to prosperity by spending the taxpayers' money. Politics in government is a bad thing, he explained, and government in business is a form of state socialism. He said that under the recovery a business man might appeal, but after that appeal had been made, the final decision rested with the government, and that the government had the power to make its own provisions as to how the private business was to be run. "There is no man who understands how all businesses are run, some of us can't even run our own business," he said.

He concluded his address with an explanation of the reduced purchasing power of the middle class of people, and stated that the present depression was caused by a few men having more money than was their share, leaving large numbers of people without enough funds to live.

The musical program was under the direction of Paul Zucca, accompanied at the piano by Danny Bitner.

City of Music

Vienne, the city Johann Strauss set to music and his home for 45 years, was also the home of Franz Schubert for 30 years. All the great masters loved Vienna and lived there. It is still the City of Music, trying place of musicians and artists, together with medical students and romancers from the Balkans. It has a civic history back to the days of Marcus Aurelius, who died there.

On Tuesday afternoon and evening, July 12, the annual outing of G. W. Van Slyke & Horton was held under the auspices of the Kingston Plant Service Committee at Golden Rule Inn, and was attended by 200 employees and guests. Swimming, rowing, horseshoe pitching and various games were held during the afternoon. Dinner was served in the early evening, followed by dancing to Roger Baer's excellent music. Immediately following the dinner, George K. Colden, plant superintendent, was present with two huge baskets of roses and carnations, and also a birthday cake in honor of his 80th birthday and his 32nd year with G. W. Van Slyke & Horton. He received from the firm foremen, floor ladies and officers a silver set, consisting of a meat platter, covered vegetable dish and gravy boat.

Guests from Albany included T. A. Horton, treasurer; R. C. Craig, production manager; A. E. Maspons, general factory manager; G. D. Kneiler and E. F. Stock.

British Malaya's Products

The most important agricultural commodity of British Malaya is rubber; but coconuts are also extensively grown, and so also are coconuts, tapioca and pepper. Rice is also cultivated largely, but as it is the staple diet of the inhabitants, great quantities have also to be imported. Within recent years coffee, tea and tobacco have been given some attention, and may yet prove to be remunerative.

Funeral Directors Met At Liberty

A regular meeting of the Catskill Mountain Funeral Directors Association of District No. 1, was held at the Lenape Hotel at Liberty Wednesday evening. President: W. N. Conner presided at the business session which was held prior to the banquet. This meeting was a regular "ladies' night" and there were 54 in attendance.

Treasurer Keenan reported on the financial standing of the association and several matters of interest to the members were taken up at the business session. Among the matters discussed was the sales tax as relative to the undertaking business. This matter was discussed by George Goodstein, state consultant of the association. Edward B. Brown, insurance broker of Liberty, also discussed insurance matters.

At the banquet which followed the business there were several speakers. Among them were Mayor E. J. Hoos of Liberty, I. J. Hookshut, president of the Funeral Directors' Association; S. J. Waters, district manager of the National Casket Company; W. M. Reinhardt, field secretary of the association; and George Goodstein, state consultant; also J. P. Stahl, a representative of the Marcellus Casket Company. The various speakers were introduced by President Conner.

The next meeting will be held in Catskill some time in October, and President Conner appointed the following committee to make arrangements: G. A. Deane, chairman; James Kirtz, C. R. Tibbets and Harry Millsbaugh.

300 More Join Electric Plan Club

Nearly 300 men, or women representing men, attended the demonstration of the Tark electric razor at the Rose & Gorman store on Thursday. Demonstrations of the electric razors have up till yesterday been confined to the larger cities but the R & G organization succeeded in having it brought to Kingston.

The demonstration as announced in The Freeman was for 5 1/2 hours. Every minute was a busy one and nearly 300 bought the new electric razor.

No more are now on sale as the plan of the company limits the sale in each community until production can catch up with demand.

However, on Saturday evening from 5 to 10 o'clock the R & G store has arranged for another demonstration and those who wish to bring their shaving up to date can then secure one of the electric razors in the men's department.

Shark Discovered In Hudson River

Rivermen in the harbor of New York reported to the police of that city on Thursday that they had seen a shark in the Hudson river which appeared to be headed upstream. The New York police that night sent a teletype alarm, as a protection to bathers in the river, as far north as Poughkeepsie. The report was not received over the teletype machine at police headquarters here.

ANOTHER SWIMMER IS TAUGHT AT Y. M. C. A.

Another graduation from the beginners' class in swimming which is being conducted at the Y. M. C. A. took place yesterday. Theodore Barton qualified for the swimmers' class by swimming the length of the swimming pool which is 40 feet. Theodore also qualified for the divers' class by diving from the spring board into the deep water.

The beginners' class is continually growing smaller because of graduation into the swimmers' class. If there are still members who cannot swim, this class affords a splendid opportunity to learn because the number is small enough to receive individual attention of the instructor. These classes meet promptly at 2:30 each Monday and Thursday afternoon.

There has been some inquiry about swimming instruction for younger children. Girls as well as boys. A special six-lesson course will be arranged for this group if there is enough demand. A reasonable charge will be made. Mr. Schoonmaker who has charge of the instruction of the regular groups will be glad to talk with any parents who may be interested.

SUIT CHOICE FOR UP-TO-DATE MATRON

Prints Gay and Colorful Are Popular Just Now.

The up-to-date matron usually chooses a smartly sophisticated costume for summer, with the preference going to some form of a jacket frock. Prints are very popular at the moment, and they are gay and colorful. Field flower prints on black or navy grounds may be matched to brimmed hats of the same fabric, or worn with small flower turbans which accent the predominating color in the print.

Suits of sheer, in navy or beige are also worthy of attention on the part of the woman who prefers a more conservative costume. These may be had with short jackets, or straight three-quarter coats, and usually go in for touches of white or a contrasting color. An excellent example is a Molyneux suit of navy ribbed sheer, with a loose coat a little shorter than three-quarter length. Lighter blue grosgrain ribbon is used for the cuffs and facing of the coat, and there is a dash bow of the ribbon at the waistline of the surplice frock. This is worn with a high three-cornered turban in navy rough straw.

TWO-TONE EFFECT

A very charming fashion has been introduced this season—that of wearing velvet accessories the same color but in a shade or two darker than the dress. In the instance of the Paris gown illustrated, Jean Patou girdles a light green crepe gown of simplest youthful styling with softly tied wide velvet ribbon which itself combines a dark and a light green. Smart Parisiennes think so well of this idea of wearing velvet accessories with their pastel and darker monotone frocks, they even go so far as to wear velvet shoes, scarfs, belts or girdles, and they carry velvet purses or handbags. As to the little jacket and evening wrap of velvet, they are more popular this season than ever. If you have a simple crepe frock and it seems to "need something," try a girle or a big bow of velvet in a darker shade. There's something magic in a touch of velvet.

STYLE NOTES

Costume jewelry gains new importance. Frogs of leather or braid are latest fastenings. White organdie trims navy or black straw hats. Black linen becomes an important sportswear fabric. Orange and melon shades are accented for summer. Evening frocks emphasize voluminous balloon sleeves. Fashion offers choice between sleek or frothy silhouettes.

Flannel Shorts Gaining in Favor for Sports Wear

The short flannel trousers that Jane Regny launched this season are creating quite a stir now that it is actually time to don them for fashionable resort wear. They are to be used for any kind of active sports. The trousers are short to just above the knee and are worn with a sweater of some knitted material, preferably in a bright green when the trousers are gray. A blouse under the sweater may be of coarse white cotton crash.

Cotton Evening Wraps Is New Idea of Designers

Cotton evening wraps are something new. Leading Paris designers are showing them in pique and other heavy ribbed cottons in white and pale blue.

One of the smartest is a hip-length wrap of white pique with huge flares at the elbow banded in silver fox. Another is a three-quarter-length model of pale blue pique fluted with a little slit-through scarf.

Satin Evening Gowns Printed with large, floral designs make handsome evening gowns for summer.

Financial and Commercial

New York, July 14 (P)—The stock market cooled down a bit today, following its heated performance yesterday, and irregular and somewhat nervous price movements gave the day a sporty appearance.

Traders were inclined to turn their attention to specialties, when most of the leaders failed to exhibit the expected enthusiasm, and some of these were run up around 2 points. Wheat, corn and soy were almost as indifferent as in yesterday's proceedings. Cotton, however, backed some of the previous day's gains. Bar silver advanced 1/2 of a cent on a basis of 100 cents. The dollar rallied nearly 2 cents against sterling and improved substantially in terms of foreign gold exchanges. Bonds were steady to firm.

Stocks that rallied 1/2 or more points included Allied Chemical, International Silver and Industrial. Most of the declining issues were rather quiet, although U. S. Industrial, General and Commercial Solvents got up about 2 points each. Other leaders of 1 to 2 included Celanese, Kerr, de Pazo, U. S. Steel, American Tobacco, B. & O. Chemical, American Telephone and American Gas dropped a point or more, and a number of other issues followed a narrow range.

Week-end trade reviews were quite cheerful. These pointed out that the most important phase of the present business situation was the virtual absence of reactionary tendencies which might ordinarily be expected at this time. Apparent confirmation of the substantial upswing it was stated, is seen in the fact that industry, as a whole, is now operating at the highest level in the past two years.

Renewed hope for decimation of unemployment was given by the announcement of Secretary of Interior, Ickes that he had approved federal and municipal work plans involving expenditures of some $115,000,000. This, it was explained, was the first step in the program which is expected to put 1,000,000 men back to work by next October.

England Ahead in Davis Cup Matches

Wimbledon, England, July 14 (P)—Great Britain's doubles team of George Patrick Hughes and Fred Perry defeated the Australians, Adrian Quist and Don Turnbull, 7-5, 6-4, 3-6, 6-3, today to give the mother country a lead of two matches to one in the European zone Davis Cup finals.

The victory gave Great Britain a commanding lead in the battle for the right to face the United States in the inter-zone finals at Auteuil next week-end.

The first pair of matches were divided yesterday as Jack Crawford, Australia's new Wimbledon singles king, defeated Henry W. (Bunny) Austin, and Fred Perry, England's top ranked player, beat Young V. Vian McGrath.

In the final pair of singles scheduled for tomorrow, Crawford will face Perry and McGrath will oppose Austin.

SEEKING BATTERY RADIO FOR BOY SCOUT CAMP

Scout Executive Wright is on the lookout for some good friend of the Boy Scouts who has a radio set that isn't needed during the next month that he—or she—would be willing to loan for the entertainment of the boys that will gather at Camp Half-Moon. It would necessarily have to be a battery set, as there is no electric service at the camp.

The scouts will arrive at the camp next Sunday afternoon and Monday morning and some idea of the popularity of the camp this year may be gained from the fact that the camp opens with 65 scouts as against 16 scouts at camp the first week last year. The number will be increased to 72 the second week, the camp limit with present accommodations.

There are still 14 vacancies for the second two weeks period, but if all who have signified their intention to attend camp put in an appearance the camp will be more than filled the second period.

Members of the leadership training school are attending camp this week-end, some having gone up today. They will remain till Sunday afternoon and it is expected that about 40 will take the opportunity to practice out-door scouting and gain experience to be handed on to their troop members.

Originally jungle was the Hindi word for any uncultivated ground. Since its adoption into the English language the term is applied to any tangled mass of tropical vegetation.

THE PLAN THAT—

By DUDORD JONES

© by McClure Newspaper Syndicate

“MY DEAR, you won't do anything like that,” Margery said, smiling tenderly into the flushed face above her.

“But I am going to marry you, though—”

“Stanley, boy, I'm just as determined to have you, but it is better if when we are married we have no unhappiness behind us. I know just how your mother feels about your marrying the daughter of an ordinary factory worker. Your mother has lived all her life among lovely, pleasant, cultured things, and she has a right to feel that I am somewhat crude and—”

He swung her from her feet and kissed her. “No more of that. Mother is obstinate as a—”

Margery freed herself. “Don't you be the same. Listen, my dear, let's think it over; then if we fail, we'll just do it.”

He smiled with relief. “All right, then, honey, but you'll have to do the thinking. But I'll give you just two weeks—and then I'm going to grab you and run away with you—family or no family.”

The plan that had popped into Margery's head while they were talking over the situation looked a bit desperate, but as she told herself, “Desperate cases call for desperate remedies.” She talked the plan over with her father. He laughed and then looked serious.

“I told you, your second name as I've told you to Mitchell, but go ahead. I have faith in you. If it doesn't work, nothing will be lost,” he agreed.

From that moment Margery worked with speed. Stanley had said in passing that his mother's companion, Miss Knapp, was getting through; so Margery hastened to see her.

“I'll help you. The old lady is a fearful old aristocrat. I had enough of her, and I doubt your luck; but, anyway, I'll recommend you for my position,” Miss Knapp agreed.

So it came about that Margery, late that week, walked into the fine London mansion and was interviewed and hired. She then planned to tell Stanley what she had done, but found he had left a hurried word for her that he had been rushed South by his firm on an emergency trip.

Margery's sense of humor came readily to her aid those first days of her service as companion to Mrs. Landon. The old lady was exacting, but Margery met the issue without evasion.

She liked to read herself, so her duty of reading to Mrs. Landon for two hours each day was not a task. She liked to play with nice dishes, and she found herself, instead of the cook, preparing pet dishes that Mrs. Landon liked. She anticipated her employer's needs as much as she could, and that she was successful was indicated by Mrs. Landon's brief statement, one afternoon:

“Miss Elder, you are proving very satisfactory, and I would like to make your engagement permanent.”

Margery smiled outwardly, although she said “Thank you” inwardly. “I am glad to have it permanent,” she answered demurely enough.

She wrote to Stanley in care of his firm, and she was sure he knew what was going on; but on that fatal afternoon she discovered otherwise.

She came from the back of the house and stepped into the library where he was talking to his mother. He glanced up and saw her and his eyes opened with astonishment, and his mouth—

Margery, back of Mrs. Landon, put her finger on her lips, and she saw that he had “tumbled.”

Later, he cornered her in the kitchen. “You witch, this was your game. Gosh! it's a good one,” he chuckled.

“Mother was praising you just as you came in. But when she finds out—Oh, golly!” he grinned. “It'll be worth it just to have you around here.”

Then began a time of doubt for Margery. She discovered that Mrs. Landon's fear about the girl her son wished to marry rose, after all, from her great love for her son. Actually, beneath her cold, aristocratic exterior was something that approached closely a warm heart. Most of the time, however, she seemed rigid and set in her ways and ideas.

Margery began to be worried. The truth must come out sometime, and the plan she had entered upon began to look a little childish.

The bottom fell out of the plan suddenly. She was going along the upper corridor when Stanley, stepping from his room, caught her, and gathered her in his arms. She gave him a kiss in return for his, then tried to pull away—and saw Mrs. Landon looking at them down the hall. Stanley saw her at the same time, and Margery felt his arms tighten.

“Gosh, mother saw us. Now for an earthquake!” he whispered in her ear.

His mother approached, and to Margery's astonishment, she was smiling.

“So I am to lose my companion. My dear, forgive me for deceiving you, but Miss Knapp felt she ought to tell me; so I have known from the beginning. I have enjoyed having you here and I hope you and Stanley will want to stay with me right along,” she said a bit wistfully.

Stanley reached out a long arm and drew his mother to him. With the other he encircled Margery's waist.

“We accept the invitation—and a kiss all around each the burglar!” he announced with joyful finality.

“Officers will be dispatched to the scene.”

“In a recent case we were able to solve the crime because the family notified us immediately.”

“Federal officers constantly emphasize and strictly observe the rule of secrecy.”

Great Death Valley Park Is Lowest Point in U. S.

Mysterious Death Valley, the lowest point in the United States, became a national monument under the national park service of the Department of the Interior by proclamation of former President Hoover, Governor the Review of Reviews. This added another 1,500,000-acre area, rich in geologic and historic interest, to Uncle Sam's chain of parks and monuments. It lies in southeastern California, near the Nevada line.

According to the United States Geological survey, the valley lies 276 feet below sea level, yet fewer than 50 miles away towers Mount Whitney to an altitude of 14,494 feet, the highest point in the United States outside of Alaska.

In the midst of the sand dunes, gravel and saline deposits of the desert is an oasis. Furnace Creek ranch, where Panamint Indians cultivate oranges, garden vegetables, corn and alfalfa. Nor is the valley itself bare of plant life. The cactus, greasewood, yucca palm, chuckwalla, and other odd flora help create a unique landscape. And in spring the ground is carpeted with wild flowers of rare beauty and color.

Camp High Point Season Has Begun

Broadstreet, July 14.—Camp High Point opened its eighth season in a place of glory. Extensive operations have been going on all spring in preparation for the expected increase in the number of campers. At present the camp is full and increased accommodations are being provided for several more who are expected in the near future.
On arrival in camp July 3, everything was found to be in shape and span. The main feature of the camp is the lake which has been completely renovated with all modern improvements. July 4 was celebrated by a water carnival and in the evening by a splendidly acted play, "Two Crooks and a Lady," produced by Miss Henri and Mr. Flado under the guidance of Mr. Margolis.
Miss Syd Steinberg, head counsellor of the girl campers, and Sid Alexander, head counsellor of the boy campers, work as a unit and have everything running smoothly. They are ably assisted by 20 senior counsellors, all college men, and 18 junior counsellors. One of the main features of the camp is the midday division, ably handled by experienced kindergartners. The entire staff is working towards making the camp an ideal institution and visitors are invited on Saturday and Sunday to visit the camp and see it in operation.
Directors have spared no expense in providing accommodations for both campers and guests so that all may enjoy their stay out here. The merchants of Kingston have willingly cooperated in a businesslike manner, and the camp thanks them accordingly.
The mess hall has been beautifully decorated and food served there is very carefully prepared on a dining room table to suit the fancies of the campers. Mr. Hartakos, the head chef, has had years of experience in preparing food for children and adults and is ably assisted by competent helpers.
Several plays are now in the process of being produced and will be put on shortly. The Arts and Crafts Department under the directorship of Miss Pauline Sussillo and Len Storay is already functioning and many useful articles are being made by the campers. The water sports are supervised by Red Cross swimming examiners, Miss Janet Levy, Miss Ruth Goldsberg, Nat Rubin, and several senior life savers. All kinds of water sports are indulged in, all strokes of swimming are taught and campers are instructed so as to be able to pass life saving tests.
Dramatics, elocution, dancing, songs and cheers are also indulged in under the able instruction of the counsellors.
The directors of the camp, the Messrs. Greenberg and Levy, and their wives, spare no efforts to make the children happy and contented in a homelike atmosphere.

Kingston C. C. C. Men
At Bountiful, Utah

222nd C. C. C.
Bountiful, Utah.
July 9, 1933.
My dear Editor:
Will you be so kind as to print this letter in your most valuable paper. I am one of the five fellows that left Kingston May 19th. We were stationed at Fort Jay, Governor's Island, New York, until June 16th, then on that day we left Jersey City for the west. On June 12th we arrived at Bountiful, Utah. We then built up our camp temporary. We are also going to install a mess hall, a recreation building, an officers building and some other buildings not yet decided upon. We are building the camp in the shape of a horseshoe. They now have a system of sending about 120 men out on a road job about four miles from our camp
a place called "Wild Horse Mountain".
Here they are cutting down trees and making a roadway. They are going to start blasting about next week.
The rest of the camp stay at home doing various jobs such as doing plumbing work, carpenter work, laboring, kitchen duty, policing the grounds and some smaller jobs. I was appointed carpenter foreman by the captain.
We are having the best of eat-here. Every one is well pleased.
Here is the menu for the Fourth of July: Roast beef, mashed potatoes, corn, beans, lettuce, coffee, cake, ice cream, bread and butter. I don't think anyone could kick about this.
Do you?
Everyone is getting a good coat of tan or a nice sunburn. We had a little rain here for three days this week, but altogether it didn't rain for 15 minutes. If it rained here for two weeks I still think it would be very dusty.
Last Thursday night we had boxing bouts here and after that we had hot dogs, rolls, sauerkraut and coffee. We have these bouts each week, but sometimes Wednesday and sometimes Thursday.
Well this is all I know for this time. I will write again soon.
The boys all send their best wishes for a speedy return of prosperity to Kingston.
Yours truly,
ANDREW PLAPP, JR.
DIRECTORS OF Y. W.

On Thursday evening the officers and following members of the Board ing secretary; Mrs. W. MacGregor

Miss Alma Tyler, Mrs. Harry Walker and Mrs. Frank Matthews, past presihonor of Miss Jane Van Eten, the retiring secretary of the Y. W. C. A., at Watson Hollow Inn. Toasts were given by Mrs. Lewis and Mrs. Walter, appreciative of Miss Van Eten's service to the Young Women's Christian Association of Kingston and wishing her all success and happiness in the future. At the close of the delicious dinner, Mrs.

Rice, the president, also paid tribute to Miss Van Eten and all that she had meant to the Y. W. C. A. these past difficult years, and then introduced Mrs. Terry. It was Mrs. Terry's good fortune to express for the Board of Directors their appreciation of Miss Van Eten in something more than kind words. Mrs. Terry, not leaving out the kind words, presented Miss Van Eten, for the Board, with a very handsome travelling case, which was such a delightful surprise as to almost overcome Miss Van Eten who very heartily thanked all members of the board for the handsome and appreciated gift, and also expressed her regret in leaving the work of the Kingston Y. W. C. A., which she had fully enjoyed. All of the arrangements for the delightful dinner were made by Mrs. Terry and Mrs. Wood.

Smallest Wound
The smallest wound to come localities is called "nose-bleed". No scientific label is known to exist.
It measures only six inches from nose to root to tail. The tail is hardly as long as the nose, and has a white tip—a distinction alone among wounds. No summer coat is glossy reddish brown above, and white below from this recent, and the feet are white.
